About fuseami

We are an Irish company, working with conference organisers to transform delegate networking at events. We help delegates make a connection with those most relevant to their business and interests, using our patent pending relevance technology.

We have supported many prestigious events, such ICT2015 and IEEE GLOBECOM2015.

Visit our website for further details of how to make maximum use of the service as a delegate or as an organiser. fuseami can help transform any event with more than 40 delegates where networking is an essential element.
